- 1                   2.     Discovery Plan:     The parties jointly propose to the Court the 2                   following discovery plan:
3
4                   a.     Subject to Discovery: Discovery will be needed on the following
5                   subjects:
6                             i.     All issues of liability, and damages.
7                             ii.    The parties jointly agree to exchange all photographs, video or 8                   any other media pertaining to the subject incident.
9                             iii.   Any incident report made on the date of incident pertaining to 10                  the subject incident.
11                            iv.    Defendant shall disclose to Plaintiff any applicable insurance
12                  policy pertaining to the date of incident.
13                            v.     Plaintiff reserves the right to depose the person(s) most 14                  knowledgeable as to the circumstances of the incident.
15                            vi.    Plaintiff reserves the right to depose and/or subpoena any of 16                  Plaintiff's medical providers.
17
18                  b.     Discovery cut off dates:     Defendant filed its Notice for Removal
19                  on May 17, 2010. This means all Discovery must be completed by November 12,
20                  2010, which is 180 days from the first appearance in this case. Defendant executed
21                  the Acceptance of Service of the Complaint on April 26, 2010. Therefore, Defendant
22                  will have until May 16, 2010 to file a responsive pleading. As such, the parties may 23                  request additional time to conduct Discovery.
